

Regarding: Bowhill Engineering Safety Management System

To whom it may concern

As a practitioner and now consultant advising and implementing Quality Safety and Environmental Systems for South Australian business over the last 20 years, I can quite confidently say that:-

- Bowhill Engineering's commitment to its Integrated Business Management Systems including Safety is by far the best that I have seen in a small/medium manufacturing business. Its commitment to process compliance via a sophisticated document management system that is easily accessible to all stakeholders is commendable.
- The review systems in place which are integrated across Safety, Quality and the Environment ensure that all staff are advised and trained in all aspects of the businesses operations that are relevant and are kept fully up to date with Process Performance and adherence to KPI's. Performance trends are constantly monitored and continuous improvement systems in place to ensure negative trends are addressed.
- All elements of the system are consistently audited and each element can be separated and studied as an independent system.

Perpetual Results Australia is now engaged with Bowhill Engineering to further improve its already excellent systems by upgrading system documents into Microsoft Sharepoint. This is being done in conjunction with internal stakeholders and utilising best practice Lean Documentation principles.

This will ensure the future efficiency and long term growth of the system and further enhance the visibility and reach of safety principles, practices and measurement to all employees.

Perpetual Results Australia is proud to be associated with Bowhill Engineering.
