To Whom It May Concern

Robert C. Frazer & Associates - Consulting Engineers, have been working with Bowhill Engineering for a number of years on various Engineering projects around South Australia.

Most recently, this has included the structural works for a number of businesses including T&R Pastoral, Puzzle Park and SACBH.

These projects included various operations ranging from structural steelwork detailing, fabrication, surface treatment, concreting, erection and other ancillary site works. Bowhill Engineering carried out all of these tasks.

We have, on many occasions, worked with them to achieve innovative and practical solutions that are quite often not possible from one perspective alone.

Because of their reliability and accuracy we know that we have a local option to carry out the engineering services that are needed.

They have shown to be innovative and able to produce quality workmanship within tight time frames.

Their expertise and resources are such that there would be few projects in our engineering industry, which are out of their scope.

We look forward to continuing our close relationship with Bowhill Engineering and can recommend them for any applicable projects in the engineering field.

Yours Sincerely,
